

NEW Cooperative is pleased to invite area customers to their upcoming plot days. There will be several dates and locations to choose from, and are intended to help area producers take a closer look at various hybrids and varieties grown in same conditions as their own. This is a great time for area farmers to assess their past seed choices, and help to make a sound decision for their 2011 seed purchase.

In attendance will be seed company representatives and NEW Cooperative seed sales experts, to answer any questions you may have. NEW wants to make sure their customers make the best seed buying decision for their operation, so plan on attending a NEW Cooperative Plot Day near you!
